BOUTELLE & BUNNY, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE. BUNNY & BUNNY.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Bunney, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Wing and Courier."

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1882.

WILL BE HELD IN CITY HALL, PORTLAND, Tuesday, June 13, 1882, At 10 o'clock A. M.

For the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor and four candidates for Representatives in Congress, to be supported at the September election, and to nominate any other business that may properly come before it.

The names of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy five voters in the city of Portland, one delegate, and for each seventy five voters in the city of Portland, one delegate, and for each seventy five voters in the city of Portland, one delegate.

The committee will be in session in the Reception Room of the City Hall at nine o'clock on the morning of the Convention for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates.

All citizens of Maine, whatever may have been their party affiliations, who believe in the purity of the ballot and honesty in the count, in popular government, and who are opposed to the use of money in politics, are cordially invited to attend the Convention, and for a fraction of forty cents to secure a copy of the Constitution of the State.

By order of the Republican State Committee, W. F. FRYE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES. The Republican voters of the city of Bangor are requested to meet at the usual place of their meetings on Tuesday Evening, June 6, At 10 o'clock, to select delegates from each ward, to attend the State Convention to be held in City Hall, Portland, Tuesday, June 13th, 1882, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor and four candidates for Representatives in Congress to be supported at the September election.

Without exception the gathering in the North-ombia Hall, yesterday, was the most colorful and helpful political assemblage ever witnessed in Bangor.

In spite of the extraordinary efforts put forth to make it imposing in numbers, the attendance was so light from many sections that constant excursions were made for it, and although the report of credentials was made to appear quite large, yet the attendance was made up in great measure by the fusillade of this city and vicinity.

The lack of interest was confessed when in a general discussion it was proclaimed that Astorwood had only one delegate and Oxford and Androscoggin but a few each, and it was obvious throughout that the people had failed to respond to the call.

The proceedings were perfunctory and grotesque in the extreme. The nomination of Plaised was put through in a disheartened and nerveless way, on the motion of John Todd, and the speeches of several of the Union oracles were made up of more than usually miserable rant.

The platform is a perfect rag bag of odds and ends, and when spread out, the contents look like the sweepings of Plaised's political garret. To attempt to analyze or discuss such a collection of claptrap and incoherence would be like reviewing one of Daniel Pratt's speeches, which is very much resembling.

The one thing desired by the country delegates was to nominate candidates for Congress, but the managers were too smart for them and put the matter where they can manipulate the Congressional ticket through committee's selection.

This caused much bad blood and a large part of the delegates have gone home in the ugliest possible frame of mind.

The shadow of coming and crushing defeat was over the whole business, and Plaised looked as acted like a man who was reading the fate of his demagogues.

Of the two conventions held here this week that of yesterday was even more calculated to inspire Republican confidence than the significant success of Helen Chase in obtaining a nomination for Governor in the city of Plaised's residence, and in spite of the most strenuous efforts of the Governor and his friends.

The owners of a grand Republican victory are unmistakable and multiplying daily.

THE REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES. We publish this morning the call of the Republican City Committee for the caucuses to be held in the several wards next Tuesday evening June 6th, to select four delegates to each ward to make up the twenty-eight delegates to which Bangor is entitled in the Republican State Convention to be held in Portland, June 13th.

The twenty-eight delegates thus chosen will take part in nominating the Republican candidate for Governor, and four candidates for Representatives in Congress.

The importance of this year's convention has awakened much interest in the party, and it is hoped that every Republican will use his influence to secure a large attendance at the caucuses.

Gen Plaised was nominated by the convention of 1880 as the Democratic candidate and accepted the nomination, and he will be nominated again, and to use his own words when he is nominated, "I will carry the State of Maine."

The Democratic convention at Lewiston will carry the news to Bangor that the old Democratic party is again in the field in Portland City Journal.

Won't that be rather rough on "Dear Sam" and the rest of the Greenbackers, and is it not a little rough on Plaised himself to assume that after his proclamation of steadfast adhesion to Greenbackism, "no trades," etc, he is to take the field as the leader of the Maine Democracy?"

Judge Wyle's course on Monday in overruling severely and in detail all the evasions of the defense in the star route trials, affords a refreshing assurance that the efforts of the conspirators to escape justice will be futile. For the fourth time the defense has pleaded the insufficiency of the indictment, and had the audacity to bring in, as evidence of the conspiracy, the indictment, Grand Jury, a lying affidavit by Bardell, which was received by the Judge with the declaration that Bardell should be indicted for perjury—Boston Journal.

It is stated that the Judge Advocate General of the Navy has concluded, after investigating the matter, that the United States has a perfect title to the land on which the Boston Navy Yard is located.

COMMON-KENNEBEC POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS.

(From the Oxford Democrat.)

Gen. N. M. Curtis is on trial in New York for having collected money of government clerks, and other officials to be used for corrupt political purposes, while in the employ of the United States. This prosecution is the first of its kind, and is being pushed by the Civil Service Reform Association of which George William Curtis is a prominent member, but the testimony given at the trial shows that while this great civil service reformer was denouncing these political assessments as "blackmail," and condemning the use of money in carrying elections he was filling out his check for one hundred dollars to be used by the Republican campaign committee for "corrupt political purposes."

Mr. Curtis cannot plead ignorance in this matter. He knew the character of the men who were to handle his money and knew to what purpose it would be put. He gave it to help Husted and other put ladders to the top of the political ladder.

Of course Curtis has a perfect right to do as he pleases with his money, but he has no more right to make a hypocrite of himself than have Horace Dawes—Argus.

The use of the word "corrupt" by the Argus, in the above item, is calculated to mislead. Gen. Curtis was not indicted for corruption, but for "corrupt" purposes. He was indicted under an absurd law which forbids the collecting of money from U. S. Office holders for political purposes. As every man in Maine, according to democratic doctrine, has a right to interpret the constitution and laws we are free to say we believe this law unconstitutional, as it is absurd.

The very fact that the Argus states—that Mr. Curtis contributed to the campaign fund, shows that he did not suppose the money was to be corruptly used. It also shows the absurdity of the law referred to, as acknowledged by its champions.

We are opposed to the "corrupt" use of money by political parties. The laws against bribery cannot be made too severe, and every man engaged in such an illegal transaction should be surely and swiftly punished. But campaigns cannot be conducted without money. None can doubt the propriety of sending speakers through the country, nor question the value of documents and papers properly distributed. Speakers' expenses must be paid and documents and papers must be printed and mailed. Who shall furnish the money for these expenses? We believe that the men who hold the offices, and who are thus directly interested in party success should pay the bills.

The Argus doubtless concurs in that belief. At present most of the U. S. Office holders are held by Republicans. The campaign fund raised by contributions from these officials, gives the Republicans a quite an advantage over their opponents in a closely contested campaign. So the Democrats unite with a few visionary Republicans in an effort to cut off the supply from this source. If the party could be crippled by such means, the opposition obtain power, we should soon see these absurd regulations removed or violated with impunity. Now how the Argus adroitly uses the word "corrupt," and intimates that all funds raised by the Republicans are corruptly expended. Of course the Democrats do not raise any funds by assessment upon their officials! Oh, no! But how has it been in this country, where one tidal wave gave the Fusionists a majority in the U. S. House, they not merely failed to practically forced to take stock in newspaper enterprises, and otherwise "assess" their constituents? Ask some of them who tell you the truth about the matter. But then the money which happened to come into the hands of the Democratic committees was not used for "corrupt" purposes! Oh, no! The wicked and "corrupt" Republicans of this town, in a late campaign, used some of their funds to assist a couple of young men in getting home on election day, soon as they arrived they were offered ten dollars to vote the Democratic ticket.

Thus it is, all political parties collect funds which, when placed in bad hands are used for purposes which conscientious men universally condemn. The remedy does not lie in forbidding assessments nor in hypocritically charging corruption upon the opposing party, but in impartially enforcing the laws against bribery.

Recent despatches indicate an increased production of wheat in the ten great wheat raising States of the North, amounting to fifty or sixty million bushels, and in seven corn producing States, providing the weather is favorable, an increase of 100,000,000 bushels of corn or more. The oat crop is likely to exceed the preceding year, but no figures can be given. These state crops are favorable to the increased acreage, taken with the present prospects.

It appears from a Parliamentary return that 4,044 persons were drowned on the coast and in the inland waters of Great Britain during the year 1880. Of this number, however, 471 committed suicide and 26 were murdered. The number of persons saved from drowning was 718, of whom 577 were saved by life boats.

Bishop Foss, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who has for weeks been seriously ill at his home in St. Paul, Minn., belongs to a family that has exerted a marked influence upon the course of the Methodist denomination in this country. His father was for many years a prominent member of the New York Conference. His eldest brother, James Foss, was a remarkable able pulpit orator and was a life-long intimate friend and confidant of Dr. John McClinton. His youngest brother died at the age of twenty-four, but had already achieved wide renown as a brilliant preacher and able professor in Wesleyan University. Bishop Foss, who is now forty-eight years of age, has been pastor of several of the largest churches in New York, and is now pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Brooklyn, and was for five years president of Wesleyan University. At the General Conference of 1880 he was elected to the office of Bishop, which he now holds. News of his progress toward recovery health is anxiously watched for by thousands of his former pupils and pupils in New York and vicinity, who have bright memories of the cultured Christian gentleman and warm-hearted friend.

One of the oldest, if not the oldest, deed in America is in the possession of Major Leland, of New York. It antedates the landing of the Pilgrims 110 years, and was written eighteen years after the discovery of the New World by Columbus. It is a deed of Fisher's Island, near the mouth of Long Island Sound, by certain Indian chiefs and a white man, the celebrated navigator, and bears his signature.

Returning from a visit to the Princess Louise at Kensington Palace recently, Queen Victoria drove down the middle of Botten Road, thus exercising a prerogative belonging exclusively to the sovereign, and one of which she has very rarely availed herself. From this ancient privilege of royalty came the name "Route de Roy," whence, by corruption, "Rotten Row."

An Indiana farmer believes that a famine is near at hand, and for several years has refused to sell any of the large wheat crops. The grain fields nearly all the buildings on the place including the residence, and much of it has been sold.

Notwithstanding Father Cuddihy's prohibition, there was no change from the ordinary Memorial Day exercises at Mill-ford Tuesday. The graves of the Catholic Cemetery were open, and the graves were decorated as usual.

It is said that the fashion of wearing eye glasses has seriously injured the sight of four-fifths of the Russian army officers. An order has been issued forbidding their use by officers in uniform, except on a medical certificate declaring them to be necessary.

No one imagined how vast a number of deer still remained in the swamps of Louisiana until the high water of the present season drove them from their impregnable retreats. Thousands of them have crossed the river to the immediate vicinity of Natchez.

It is estimated that there are in London at the present time no fewer than 25,000 unemployed mechanics, artisans, clerks and unskilled laborers, and that throughout the country there is a floating population of 50,000 vagrants. The depth of misery reached by some of these unfortunate people is brought to light by an instance lately held on the body of the wife of a London watchmaker. A daughter, aged 19, testified that there were seven in the family, and that their food consisted chiefly of bread and lard and tea. They all slept in one bed, the father, mother and five children, the only cover being a blanket which they wore during the day, sometimes they went a day or two without food.
